

A group show inspired by the idea of

Walking Distance

featuring the artists

Scott Hocking, Emily Linn, Laura Macintyre, Toby Millman, Kathleen Rashid, Chris Samuels, Gary Schwartz and Corine Vermeulen-Smith

29 May – 27 June, 2009

Everywhere, as Steven Wright memorably stated, is within walking distance if you have the time, suggesting that walking distance is as much a state of mind as a measure of space.

In this show eight locally resident artists explore different avenues within the bounds of walking distance, creating works that variously take their inspiration, subject matter or construction materials, from individual interpretations of the term.

The results touch on issues such as neighborhood, change, perception and just the simple joy of walking.